

Tulane University and LCMC Health Announce Partnership

01.12.2023

Stone Pigman congratulates client, Tulane University, on its new partnership with LCMC Health. The collaboration between Tulane and LCMC will bring improved healthcare, the latest developments in academic medicine and innovative medical and other health-related research to the greater New Orleans metropolitan region and the state. The plans for the downtown facility will also play a significant part in Tulane's investment in the BioMedical District.

Click here to read more about the acquisition.